

Clear Channel is scary enough, with the current regulations. We truly don't need one parent company controlling all media in the U.S.